SR. AGENT ADAM YOUNG

REGION UPDATE

By Sr. Agent Adam Young

Greetings once again from Region 8! As board representative for the past two years I have been elected once again to represent my fellow agents in Region 8 on the board. It is a job that I do not take lightly and look forward to representing Region 8 well.

At the time of this writing things have slowed down a bit in the region, but agents have managed to make some very good cases. Several night hunting cases have been made in St. Bernard and Plaquemines some of which have resulted in seizures of guns, vehicles, and ultimately arrests. Also a career gillnetting violator was caught once again in lower Plaquemines parish. The west side of Plaquemines has also had it's annual run of small red fish, and several small fish and over limit cases have been made on the levees involving bank fishermen. Gates blocking these levees have not been replaced since Hurricane Katrina thus allowing not only bank fishermen to remote areas, but night hunters as well.

The region has once again completed the

New Orleans Boat Show and met with success by talking with the public and educating them on boating safety, and the importance of enrolling themselves in a boat education class. Agents are also adjusting to a new twelve hour schedule which has allowed the agents in the region time to work some very complex cases and have met with success.

I myself am getting back into the swing of things since I attended a month long marine law enforcement school located at the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center. This school is nothing short of spectacular. The instructors and their overall knowledge of our job was amazing. In addition the equipment used in training was stellar.

That's all for now. Until next time be safe and have fun!
