Meet the Agent

Sgt. Ronald Hebert Logs 20 Years With Department

by Sr. Agent Scott Watson

The Enforcement Division of the Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries may be small compared to other departments within the agency, but we have an extremely diverse and unique group of employees. Although the public sometimes encounters agents in the field, contact is often brief and to the point. So we've started a new personality profile feature in the magazine to give readers a better idea of the types of people who become wildlife agents and are serving the community.
